Unitarian Universalist Urban Ministry

with our "Urban Renewal" Award. The Unitarian Universalist Urban Ministry has decided to install a high-efficiency boiler for the existing church building and high efficiency gas-fired furnaces in the new building that they are constructing next to First Church in Roxbury. This highly efficient heating equipment will save the UUUM thousands of dollars on utility bills each year. In addition to saving money, it means that the facility's emissions of global warming gasses into the environment are minimized. Finally, this will minimize the air pollution created in the Roxbury neighborhood. Thank you for setting a powerful example of environmental stewardship for the community of faith.
